

Sciences of the Natural

Justine Cassell
Human Computer Interaction Institute
Carnegie Mellon University

Relevance to Dynamics of Human Conversation?

- The seduction of the all-seeing researcher.
- That is, be wary of the belief that our observation paints an accurate picture of how interlocutors apprehend the same behaviors.
- How do we understand how social behaviors work, from the perspective of the participants in that very social act?
- Do the “rules” we build into computers equate to the “rules” that people use?